Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-9, drawn to an electrical connector, classified in class 439, subclass 79.
- II. Claims 10-14, drawn to the method of assembling the connector, classified in class 29.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the steps involving the terminal abrading the housing and the accumulation of debris may be omitted, or any debris formed may be disposed of.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
